ACADEMIC PROJECT:

Project Title	Design of conveyor system for transfer of scarp materials
Description	Conveyor system is the common piece of mechanical handling system that moves material from one location to another. Conveyors are generally useful in application involving the transfer of bulky materials. We designed the belt conveyor with bucket elevator. This system is designed by using two roller conveyers with one bucket elevator. One at the Feeding point i.e., the Scrap Yard where the crane operator loads the scrap materials on to the Belt Conveyor which in turn moves the materials towards the end point and dumps the scrap into the Bin of the Bucket Elevator. The Elevator in turn feeds the furnace.
